The notorious Alex Faine, if he gets the fall benefit of the verdfot of the jury which tried him in the Criminal Court yesterday will be anold, bent and decrepid man when he puts away his convict garb and emerges from the doors of the State prison. There were twenty counts against prison. There were twenty counts against nim for burglary and larceny, and the proof was so plain in all of them that he pleaded guilty, thinking by that means to a roid the severest sentence and escape with a light penalty. He was not disappointed. For each of the first ten counts be was given one year and intensities. pointed. For each of the first ten counts he was given one year, and in ten others three years each. The jury, however, recommended that the sentence in the latter cases be cut down to eighteen months each. Should he serve the full time he would be thirty-five years older than now on the day of his release, and as the matter stands he is likely to get off with twenty-five years. The capture of Faine was one of the best things ever done by the Memphis police. In order to shield himself from the scrutiny and suspicion of the police he worked steadily during the day as a hod carrier, plying his vocation at night. He was more successful than For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley: Fai varmer weather, followed in the western po

WILL PLEAD INSANITY.

The Atterney of Ars Rice Will Claim She is Crazy.

When the case of Mrs. M. E. Rice, charged with receiving stolen goods, was called in the Criminal Court yesterday, the attorney for the defense asked that it be dropped from the calendar, as she had been called in the calendar, as she had been quite ill for several days, and was in no condition to appear at court. His request was granted. He declares his intention to plead that she is insane, and is confident that he will be able to make the necessary proof. The facts upon which he has to stand will be sufficient to convince any ordinary jury that she is either in-sane or that she is one of the most usnatural of mothers. Not satisfied with receiving and hiding the household goods stolen by her son, she carried on a regu-lar blackmailing scheme with the aid of her daughter, a well-developed and very preposessing girl of about fourteen years of age, who was first initiated into some of the wickedness of the world by prd sum. The subscription, while a fair one, should, in the opinion of those who have a personal memory of 1878 79, have been much larger. The suffering on account of the fire is much greater than was at first supposed, and it seems wholly beyond the power of the people of Galveston to give any adequate relief. A subscription of 15000 from Memphis would have been much better, and it is not too late to in-crease it to that amount yet.

Middle and East Tennessee Railroad At a meeting at Gallatin Thursday night a proposition was made by Col. Turner for Sumner to assist in raising the required amount requested by Crawford to build the Middle and East Tennessee railroad. Putnam county has raised $60,000, $5000 over the amount required of that county Smith has raised $89,000 of her $100,000 and wil make an additional donation by Tuesday; Trousdale has raised $25,000 of her $10,000, and Sumner will come to her rescue. In all probability the different amounts will be raised and the road built.

WEAK BACK, PAIN and Went

The details of the settlement of the great railroad war at Chattanooga, of which a brief statement was made in the APPRAL yesterday morning, are given by the Chattanooga Times, as follows: "At 3 o'clock the kernel of the association, those who were hurt by the cuts, those who were cutting and those who were threatening to do likewise in retailation came together. They all looked mild and peaceable enough, and no one would ever have dreamed that they were on the thresh-hold of a bitter war. The following were present at the conference: Henry Fink and Jas R. Ogden of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, M. H. Smith and J. M. Culp of the Louisville and Nashville; J. W. Thomas and Geo. R. Knor of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis; John C. Gault and H. Coilbran of the Queen and Crescent and S. Hopkins of the Mobile and Ohio. From all that could be learned the Western and Atlantic was the casus belli. There were charges and counter charges, criminations and recriminations. It seems that the Mobile and Ohio, Kansas City, Fort Scott and Guif Railroad and Memphis and Charleston, were the three lines that were producing all the trouble. No one knows precisely what had been done, but broad insinuations were cast that the three lines were in collusion, and had been secretly giving rebates to shippers, and were thereby having all their competitors at a great disadvantage. None of the lines would exactly confess, but the Mobile and Ohio representative finally acknowledged that they had been doing something to that effect. After some discussion an agreement was entered into, and all the lines solemnly pledged themselves to abide by it, to forbid rebates and comply strictly and rigidly with the pool requirements. An agreement was written and accepted by each, and the meeting was then dissolved in a harmonious and amisble spirit, and the disastrous war which had so long threatened had been averted. Last night all the railroad men were ruboing their hands and emiting complacently over the result of the meeti ond division, main stem, and the Nash-ville and Decatur division; Lew. Hege, superintendent of the South and North division; O. M. Dunn; E. O. Saltmarab, superintendent of the Evansville division; Superintendent McClintock, assistant resi-dent engineer; Munford, chief engineer; M. P. Pike, master mechanic; Yardmaster Tingle and two assistants, Marvin and

The Shops at Vicksburg. There is more trouble about the shops of the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas road Vicksburg. There is a hitch in the price of the property which the company is to purchase for their shops. Mr. Wilson says he will not pay more than $34,700 for it, and his attorney is of the opinion that it cannot be secured at these figures, even by condemnation. There is no doubt, howcondemnation. There is no doubt, how-eves, that this obstacle will be overcome and the work commenced as soon as the $100,000 in c ty bonds are delivered to the trustees. Mr. Lee Richardson, a prom-inent hardware dealer, was named as the trustee in behalf of the railroad. He and Mr. A. Warner, the city's trustee, will name the third
